1. EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

1.1 INTRODUCTION

The Chanakya National Law University, Patna was established on 15th July 2006 through an ordinance which has been subsequently replaced by Chanakya National Law University Act, 2006 (Bihar Act No. 24 of 2006). The University was granted approval of affiliation by Bar Council of India vide notification No. BCI: D: 1507 / 2006 (LE: Mtg) dated 18th September, 2006. The University has been included in the list of Universities maintained by the University Grants Commission under Section 2 (f) of the UGC Act, 1956 vide notification no. F.9-24/2006(CPP-I) dated 26th October, 2006. The University is declared eligible to receive Central Assistance in terms of Rules framed under Section 12 (B) of the University Grants Commission Act, 1956 vide notification no. F. No. 9-24/2006 (CPP-I/PU) dated 11th January, 2012. CNLU is committed to the aspirations of the legal fraternity providing quality multi-disciplinary legal education for building strong bar and bench. Hon'ble Judges of the Supreme Court and High Courts, subordinate Judiciary, Senior Advocates, Jurists and eminent educationists have been participating to promote CNLU in its teaching and research programmes. CNLU maintains financial autonomy equipped with the state-of-art- infrastructure for imparting of legal education. CNLU faculties are experienced academicians, proactively involved in training and imparting skills to younger generation. Our sincere endeavour is to make legal and juristic education, as an instrument of social, political and economic change. We have objective to shape our students as social transformers as per the Preamble of the Constitution. Our mission is to equip students to face the socio-economic legal challenges of the new millennium, upholding the philosophy of Human Rights to achieve Global Justice. It has been our endeavours to carve a distinct identity in the constellation of National Law Universities in India. The university publishes its peer reviewed journals- titled CNLU Law Journal, JAIRIPA (E-IPR journal), I P BULLETINRE (E-IPR magazine), and the CHANAKYA LAW REVIEW (E-Multidisciplinary journal of fundamental Research) periodically. CNLU students have proved excellence in the National and International level Moot Court Competitions, Debates and Parliamentary Debates. The University has entered into MoUs for various developmental programs.

Vision

The vision of the University is incorporated in the objectives in the CNLU Act 2006. To provide quality multi-disciplinary education in legal studies, keeping in view of the demands of the global economy and domestic needs. To evolve and impart comprehensive legal education at all levels and to achieve excellence. To organize advanced studies and promote research in all branches of law. To disseminate legal knowledge, legal process, legislative and judicial process in national development and strengthening justice delivery system by organizing lectures, seminars, symposia, workshops and conferences. To promote cultural, legal and ethical values with a view to promote and foster the rule of law and the objectives enshrined in the Constitution of India. To improve the ability to analyse and present for the benefit of the public-contemporary issues of public concern and their legal implications. To collaborate with Universities, research institutions, NGOs, Centres nationally and internationally to achieve the objectives of the University. To publish periodicals, treatises, study books, reports, journals and other literature on all subjects relating to law and applied studies. To promote legal awareness for achieving social and economic justice for all. To undertake study and training projects relating to law, legislation and judicial institutions and do all such things as are incidental, necessary or conducive to the attainment of the University goals. To produce law graduates- a social assets, not only to earn from the profession but to render services to society. To create leadership quality for the protection and promotion of human rights and social justice.

Mission

Legal education is a social justice education. CNLU envisions to produce law graduates and skilled legal professional through systemic teaching of syllabus, training in advocacy and internship in present legal regime including alternative dispute resolution. In this process the university is using the ICT to maximise the horizon of teaching and learning. The curriculum has been designed and updated time to time as per the requirement of society, business and industries. The university also concentrates on preparing lawyers as social engineers. The university is engaged in teaching and research in law and social sciences (interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary). The moot training and internship and research writing are the regular features of the curriculum for developing practical skill. The students are imparted training in social issues through NSS, holding street plays, legal aid, community awareness and medical check-up camps. The Centre for Child Rights in collaboration with UNICEF has been sensitizing for prevention of child abuse.

Faculty undergo orientation and refresher courses, capacity building programmes, other academic programmes, training, resource mobilization, conferences, debates, seminar etc. The university periodically organizes national seminars. Students are regularly sent for National and International Moot Court Competitions, Debates, Sports and Cultural events. Teachers are encouraged to write books and publish articles in reputed journals. Teachers and students both are provided interactive facilities with peers. Senior students regularly interact with the junior in regular day to day moot court and debatory activities. The university facilitates doctoral and Post-doctoral research in Law by providing academic and research guidance and infrastructural facilities. There is regular interaction with the legal fraternity - eminent advocates, judges of the apex and the subordinate courts, law makers and law persons. The law firms and HR personnel from leading corporates are regular invitees.

It is the result of the missionary teaching and learning in CNLU that many students could have their place in LL.M. courses in U.K, U.S.A., Singapore. The law firms are recruiting our graduates regularly. Many students have been selected in judicial services and teaching profession in the states of India.

1.2 Strength, Weakness, Opportunity and Challenges(SWOC)

Institutional Strength

The Chanakya national Law university has been established by the Act of Bihar legislature in the year 2006. It is one of the National Law University in India imparting quality legal education in integrated UG courses in B.A. LL.B and BBA.LL.B. Courses. The University has a campus in the Heart of Patna City. The students are admitted through CLAT entrance test. They are our first strength. The University has appointed experienced teachers with attitude of teaching –learning and research. The teachers have been working as mentor /Guru for the total development of the students and making them socially and professionally a national asset. This is evidenced in the recruitment and placements. Around more than hundred students have been selected in the civil judiciary examinations in various states of India; Public sector undertaking ,private law firms ,litigation at various High courts and Supreme court of India. Our Alumni, fourteen batches pass out, are our strength. CNLU has a very good infrastructure, one of the best in India with adequate number of class rooms facility hostels, playground, moot halls, conference halls, etc. The Chief Justice of Patna High Court is the Hon'ble chancellor of the University. It has support from the all the honourable judges from lower court, High court, and Supreme Court, Bihar Judicial Academy, Bihar Government Institutions, Bihar Legal Services Authority etc. CNLU has a rich library with all infrastructure for research and study. Our doctoral program is appreciated. The system of teaching, learning, examination and evaluation is honest and transparent. The LL.M. courses are high in demand. The strength lies in cooperation, coordination and collaboration among students –teachers, staff and administration. The parents of our students are our strength who render full support to us. The gender equity environment, green campus adequate residential facility to staff, adequate security are our strength. The cultural harmony and respect between teacher-and students have built-up parental bonding. We are proud of having human capital, technological gadgets, physical infrastructure, and knowledge capital and harmonious relations. The University is working for social justice cause. Some of the Alumni have been appointed faculty of this university.

Institutional Weakness

Every institution has some weaknesses, especially when it is in its teens—the growth period. CNLU has entered into fifteenth year of establishment. It has established its remarkable position in India in teaching and research. It has been collaborating every day with different institutions through MOU. But it lacks Industrial/corporate Collaboration and funding. The University has established centres but research projects are wanting. The university has only one Chair in Panchayati Raj institution, IPR Chairs are still wanting. Although CNLU has good IT infrastructure but Automation is still in process. The number of staff is available but requires training in skill development and documentation. Almost all staff are regular employees, barring few, availing seventh pay commission facilities and other social securities. Teachers training and grooming is a regular process, but Academic staff college (HRDC) is wanting. The university feels excessive regulatory obedience in its expansion programs. The most serious constraint is the Limited space, i.e. 18 acres of land which is a constraint/barrier in the expansion programs. The university has no rain harvesting and waste management and water recycling facility

Institutional Opportunity

Legal education is a social justice education. Law professionals are in great demand in all sectors –judiciary, executive, trade and commerce, education, local self-governance, advocacy etc. Our consistent endeavour to consolidate academic ambience has yielded rich dividends that is duly manifested by great heights scaled by our students. Their resounding success in their career in various law firms and other prestigious competitions speaks volumes of truth about their mettle. Many of our students have brought laurels by getting selected as law clerks in Supreme Court of India. Former Chief Justice of India Hon'ble Mr. Justice Altamas Kabir has declared in the first convocation the high calibre demonstrated by the CNLU students. Many graduates of the University have taken admission in the most prestigious and esteemed universities of India and abroad and successfully completed their advanced studies. Our collaboration with Vistula University of Poland has yielded positive results as it has provided golden opportunity to students and faculty of both sides to exchange their ideas in a more wholesome and comprehensive manner. We are collaborating with some reputed Universities and Institutions such as NLSUI Bangalore, ASIAN School of Cyber Law, Pune and MATS University, Raipur through MoUs. Under our academic social responsibility, we have collaborated with UNICEF and established a Centre for Child Rights for bringing enlightened awareness among the stakeholders and are working closely with Centre for Child and the Law, NLSIU, Bangalore. With the expansion of the horizon in trade business, nationally and internationally along with growing population, the opportunities shall be bouncing. With LPG and foreign direct investment, the opportunity in legal education sector is limited to sky. Every paper/Subject of law opens opportunity for legal professionals. The more legislations, the more opportunities. The students have great opportunities for study and research abroad with full scholarship.

Institutional Challenge

Of course opportunities are never without challenges. And challenges never go in vain. Legal education is a social justice education. It requires interdisciplinary, multidisciplinary and cross disciplinary understanding. So time constraint is a great challenge. The six month time period is not enough to complete the syllabus. In general most of the curriculum is completed well within the specified time limit. However if any faculty foresees that it would be difficult to complete the syllabus within time due to unforeseen holidays affecting their schedule then, they take extra classes in the afternoon session to complete the syllabus well within time so that students can get sufficient time to prepare for their end semester examination. The university has enlisted outside experts to provide facilities to the scholars residing outside. Access to online data bases subscribed by the University through comprehensive Wi-Fi Network, which helps the students in accessing the latest possible information anytime. Project funding for research is a challenge for centres. The regulatory body's directives under the new education policy is a great challenge. The educational institutions without quality consciousness is a threat to quality oriented educational institution. The social burden with regulatory compulsion on institution is a challenge with Excessive of administrative work assignment to faculty.

1.3 CRITERIA WISE SUMMARY

Curricular Aspects

CNLU offers five years integrated law courses at the UG level B.A., LL.B. (Hons.), B.B.A., LL.B. (Hons.); LL.M (one year), Doctoral and Post-Doctoral. The curriculum is developed under the policies laid down by the Academic Planning Board and adopted by the Academic Council. The Under-Graduate five-year integrated course is divided into ten semesters. CNLU students study law and social sciences subjects comprising, compulsory papers including substantive and procedural laws, clinical courses, moot court exercise and internships, seminar papers and optional papers from the list provided by the Bar Council of India. The pedagogical principles include training and sharpening of the professional skills. The curriculum includes both theoretical and practical components- exposure to professional working environment through internships, planned and executed by the Internship and Placement Cell. Legal Aid Cell ensures learning about the matrix of Law in the real world. Professional training is imparted through Moot Court participation and competitions at internal and external levels. The university revises and updates its curriculum on regular basis. At the end of each semester, faculty members meet, review and update the existing syllabus. There is formal feedback system wherein the quality of teaching, lecture plan and cover up are tested every semester. Before the end of the semester, the papers are allotted as per their choice / preference / expertise for the purposes of utilizing the vacation for preparation of lecture plan. The new subjects as electives/optional have been introduced in BA.LL.B(H). BBA.LL.B(H). Courses. In LL.M., two specialisations –constitutional law and corporate law have been introduced. The subject teachers are authorized to develop their course structure according to the directives of BCI, UGC and Industrial /corporate requirements. The doctoral programs, especially course work, are also revised as per UGC notifications, all are analysed and approved by the Academic Council and notified by the Registrar.

Teaching-learning and Evaluation

Students are admitted through CLAT test on merit. Teaching- learning and evaluation is the core activity of the university. The classroom teaching is interactive supported by the modern technology with OPAC catalogue system in library. Learning is student centric and participatory. A student has to clear minimum eight out of ten prescribed papers for the year in order to be eligible for promotion to the next higher class. The University offers remedial classes to weaker students. Seminars, workshops and Conferences are organized to ensure discussion on latest developments. Legal Aid Committee and Child Rights Centre actively involve students in legal aid and awareness programmes. Research project are assigned in the beginning of the semester in each paper. Students have to prepare their project by researching, data collection and analysis and give oral presentation. Every student has to attend minimum 75% of the classes for each subject to be eligible to appear for the End-Semester examination. The practical/clinical/drafting papers are taught by senior advocates. Court Room practises are organised through Moot Court and court visits, ADR and Legal Aid Cell. CNLU provides continuous evaluation system by way of conducting Mid-term Test, Project Presentation and annual end-semester examination. Students have to obtain 50% in each subject as well as project report and oral presentation. The annual end-semester Examination carries 60 marks. Repeat examinations are conducted to enable the students to clear the backlog at the earliest for their promotion to the next year. Question Papers are set by the teacher who teaches the subject and is evaluated by the same teacher. After evaluation, students are shown evaluated answer sheets. Teachers explain evaluation and marking. Dissatisfied Student can request for re-evaluation by external examiners. University has adopted Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) system of grading. The Objective of teaching is to make students expert lawyer. Therefore, the students are imparted theoretical courses in the classroom, and practical courses, i.e. Moot court, Arbitration practices, Pleading Drafting and Conveyancing, Arbitration also. The Students undergo internship with NGOs, Law Firm, Advocates and Hon'ble Judges. The Teaching is based on student centric, participative, experimental, and problem solving.

Research, Innovations and Extension

Legal Methods and Legal Research Methodology are an important component in the First Year of the Undergraduate Programme. Students are made well aware of the approaches to research and its importance to case law analysis, judicial reasoning and objectivity. This helps the students to prepare their research project in all the 5 years of the courses. This helps them in the Post-Graduate studies and Doctoral and Post-Doctoral Research. The university encourages its faculty to actively engage in research and extension work. The university is actively engaged in extension work by undertaking research and holding conferences through its Child Rights Centre, Legal Aid Centre, NSS and interaction with other educational institutions for furthering these research activities. The University has guidelines for research that facilitate smooth implementation of research project and schemes. The University has a strong Law and Social-Sciences faculty. The faculty members engaged in legal research consult the Social Sciences faculty, when relevant for their respective projects and vice-a-versa. Numbers of workshop/training programmes/ sensitization programmes were conducted since inception of the University. The University has organized a number of National and International conferences by inviting legal scholars, judges of Supreme Court and High Court. The University has allocated budget provision for financial support to students for National and International Moot Court Competitions. The University publishes CNLU Journal, E-JAIRIPA (IPR), I P BULLETIN (E-magazine), The Chanakya Law Review (Multidisciplinary) periodically.

Research is the primary concern of the University. CNLU imparts research oriented education to the undergraduate and post graduate students in terms of research project and Dissertation, respectively. This is meant to inculcate creativity among them. CNLU runs Doctoral programs (Ph.D.) in law, social sciences with law, sciences with law, interdisciplinary/multidisciplinary. Here Post-Doctoral Programs (LL.D.) and D.Phil. (Non-Academic) programs run also. All the programmes are based on UGC regulations. 2.2 Catering to Student Diversity

2.2.1 The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organises special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

Response:

The university organises orientation programme every year on the first day of the academic session for the new students, where in the faculties and the vice chancellor interact with the students. They are apprised about the importance of legal education and professional scope. The university administration endeavours to alleviate the fear of ragging, encourages formal dialogue between the senior and the junior students. Anti-Ragging squads along with security officer, warden (Halls of Residence) and faculty members monitor and protect new students as per norms. Further the senior students also apprise them about the campus scenario and how best they can utilise their time effectively by being part of the varied campus activities. The University have a mechanism through which the differential requirements of the student population are analysed after admission and before the commencement of classes. The University orientation programme helps them in assessing their knowledge and importance of the subjects and Course. The university conducts remedial classes for those who fall short of attendance in particular paper in the next concerned semester or fail, in the afternoon session. Besides that, the students participate in the moot and debating activities on everyday basis in the guidance of the concerned faculty. The university is very much concerned about the academic advancement of poor section of the society and thus regularly conducts study on their academic performance. The performance of slow learners and physically handicapped students is also analysed based on their academic activities and other performance indicators. In the study it has been found that the students, who belong to the weaker sections of the society, do lack in the areas of communication, presentation and writing skills. The medium of instruction being English poses a big challenge to them as most of them come from Hindi medium schools. This also has a bearing on their examination results which is reflected in the form of backlog papers and detention. Equal Opportunity Cell puts on extra efforts in ameliorating this situation as 50% of the students fall in this category. Once identified, such students are encouraged to participate in debates, moot court competitions and MUNs to sharpen their intellect and train them for excellence. They are also encouraged to publish articles in national and international journals to enhance their research writing ability. They also participate actively in conferences and seminars. In addition, the university has a very active legal aid cell which gives the students real time exposure to the practical aspects of law. Those students who are inclined to pursue their carrier in the field of judiciary and other legal services are encouraged in that direction and provided with extra inputs from the concerned faculty. Library facility is available to them till late night to facilitate their academic endeavours.

2.3 Teaching- Learning Process

2.3.1 Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Response:

The course curriculum has been designed with reference to practical learning, participative and problem-solving syllabus. The lecture plan, deliberations in the class, question setting and evaluation, project writing and group presentation all lead to professional goal. In the faculty meeting, these aspects are clearly explained, and teachers are groomed accordingly. All the faculty members are allotted subjects for the next semester as per their choice and expertise who are design the lecture plan, draft project topics, refer books and cases. All the concerned faculties present their teaching plan and outline of the proposed syllabus. This academic calendar is prepared as per the course curriculum requirement, uploaded on the university website. A list of all the allotted project topics is prepared and put on the notice board of each class for the concerned students. The faculty provides a complete syllabus to the students as soon as the academic session begins. The lectures are interactive with case law study. The students discuss and debate inside the class on topics and current issues so that everyone can participate in the learning process. Sometimes students are asked to make a small presentation on some important issues in the class. This also helps them in developing communication and presentation skills. Besides, the various academic activities such as project preparation for each subject, their viva-voce and question answer session help them in understanding the subject in a holistic manner. The overall focus is always on the students and the way by which their inner ability can be brought forward and make them realize their strengths. The moot court exercise in the part and parcel of the curriculum which is organised regularly. It is just like practical experiment to the science students. The students are sent to courts, internship which provide them professional exposure. The question set by teachers are application based and standard evaluation motivates the students to work hard. The project work is compulsory in each paper for twenty marks.

The university on a regular basis invites the advocates, judges, NGOs, academicians of eminence to deliver lectures on current issues. Various e-learning resources such as Westlaw, Manu Patra, Heinonline, JSTOR, Corporate Law Adviser etc. have been made available for their Extensive Use. These resources can be accessed by the students from suitable places in the campus through Wi-Fi facility provided to them. The teaching and training approach is student centric and participative. The students also organise debates, moot court, communication skill programs, sports, career counselling etc with the help of teachers. Students also suggest some new practices which get exposure in the other universities.

2.3.2 Teachers use ICT enabled tools including online resources for effective teaching and learning process.

Response:

The University has made good investment in acquiring and building IT infrastructure by facilitating computers to each faculty with internet connection and access to online legal repositories like Westlaw, JSTOR, Heinonline, CLA and Manupatra. Faculty members of the university are well versed in using computers and computer-based technology. The university, after holding a meeting of faculty members presided over by Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, has decided to designate a group among the faculty to monitor the trends and issues regarding developments in open-source community and integrate its benefits in the university's educational processes. The students are provided with 24x7 wi-fi facility, library facility, and other e-learning resources (Westlaw, Manupatra etc.) which help them in learning beyond classroom. Faculties also resides in the campus and thus the students are free to interact with them whenever required. They also remain in contact with the faculties through emails and other mobile technologies to solve their various issues. This truly makes the CNLU campus a 24x7 learning facility beyond classrooms. The university has faculty advisor for academic and personal guidance of the students. Several students have benefited from such advisory and personal guidance. The result is visible in moot court and debating competitions won by them. Yes. Faculty members interact with the students regarding current issues pertaining to their subject in terms of provisions and case laws. Power Point and slide presentation are used as innovative method besides group discussion and personal interaction which has fruitful impact in moot court and debating competition. The faculty provide online resources available on the web as well as their own input.

2.5.3 IT integration and reforms in the examination procedures and processes (continuous internal assessment and end-semester assessment) have brought in considerable improvement in examination management system of the institution

Response:

The University has adopted the policy of continuous evaluation process of its students and with that objective the Mid Semester Examination, Project Report writing along with its presentation and End Semester Examinations are conducted, and results thereof are published on time adhering to the academic calendar duly notified on University website before the commencement of academic activities every semester.

The University has the policy of centralised evaluation. The answer sheets are duly coded and then handed over to the examiner for centralised evaluation. Once evaluated by the examiner, the answer sheets are de-coded and then the marks are manually fed into the computer system. The Mid Semester evaluated answer sheets are shown to the students by the concerned subject teacher along with his valuable comments and observations. Students desirous to see their evaluated answer sheets of End Semester are shown their answer sheets free of cost upon his/her application for the same. At the beginning of every semester the examination section invites application from the students who want to see their evaluated answer sheets of the preceding End Semester. The University provides the opportunity for re-evaluation of the End Semester answer sheets, as well, to its students. The examination section of the University issues notices in this regard at the beginning of every Semester and thereby invites application from the students who seek re-evaluation of the preceding End Semester's answer sheets.

At present the examination work is done manually, using computers. Coding and de-coding of the answer sheets, feeding of the marks of the Mid-Semester, Project Report, Presentation, Attendance and End-Semester is done manually using the licensed software such as MS-Excel installed on the computer systems in the examination section. The Grade in the respective subjects is prepared by the examination section, and the marks along with the grades are checked and verified by the respective subject teacher. Thereafter, the semester wise Grade sheet is prepared by the Examination section and marks as well as grade sheet are put on the University website.

2.6 Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 The institution has stated learning outcomes (generic and programme specific)/graduate attributes which are integrated into the assessment process and widely publicized through the website and other documents

Response:

The academic practices are based on learning outcome. The learning outcome suggests professional understanding. Each papers of law are a subject. Each subject has its significance in legal education and profession. Therefore, students are motivated to prepare their studies in such a way that every semester learning for the profession is systematic pilling layer by layer. The inter-disciplinary teaching unfolds the layer of understanding which necessary part of legal profession are.

The students are given not only legal education but also trained to become socially responsible. To achieve aim, facilitates real time legal training through legal aid cell and social awareness at empirical level through NSS. To ensure the holistic development of the students, faculty members are entrusted with the dynamic task of motivating and monitoring their activities. The details pertaining to outcomes of academic programmes are highlighted in the orientation programme presided over by the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor himself and attended by students, faculty members and staff. The university endeavours to augment the teaching skills of the faculty and create a conducive learning environment as well as sound assessment strategy by reviewing the curriculum from time to time to make it up to date. The frequent faculty meetings presided by the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor provide an opportunity to the faculty members to raise their doubts and seek clarification from each other. The problems and issues raised by students are also discussed in the classroom and in the faculty meeting as well. Due attention is paid to the individual performance of student during classroom interaction as well as their performance in examination. This dual process of assessment clearly highlights the handicaps as well as the merit of the students. Accordingly, the faculty gives special attention wherever required to make them active participant in academic activities. From the student's perspective, to monitor the learning outcomes, Mid Semester Examinations, project evaluation, end semester examination are conducted. These examinations not only ensure the involvement of students in the learning activities throughout the semester they also help the university asses, evaluate, and monitor the learning outcomes including self-evaluation process.

2.6.2 Attainment of Programme outcomes, Programme specific outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution

Response:

The University imparts legal education at undergraduate level as well as post graduate level. The B.A. LL.B. (Hons) & BBA. LL.B. (Hons) students learn the courses intending to be an expert lawyer, judges, legal advisors, law officers, litigation etc. The students are taught legal methods which train to think as a lawyer. The common man thinks emotionally, but lawyers think reasonably and legally. This learning outcome motivates the law students to learn the subjects and cases accordingly throughout the five-year period. The legal research methodology enables the students to learn research writing which are compulsory in each paper. The communication skill and legal language is essential part of the profession which is taught in the first semester. Each paper in each semester is taught with leading case laws with current legal disputes. The students learn the real application of law in moot court exercises and court room presentation as well. These exercises sharpen the mind of the students and they learn the skill of lawyering. The internship training in NGOs corporates, law firms, banks and insurance sector, public sector etc opens the scope of legal education. This is the reason that almost all students get opportunity and selection in judicial services, Bank and Insurance, public and private sector- legal advisor, litigation etc. Those who prefer Post graduation education migrate to other law schools in India or abroad, pursue research or Academic job. In this way the course out come is general and specific both as making of a lawyer or academician or researcher. The doctoral program is inter-disciplinary, multi-disciplinary on current burning issues. The hundred percent engagement of the doctoral candidates proves course structure and quality outcome.

Criterion 3 - Research, Innovations and Extension

3.1 Promotion of Research and Facilities

3.1.1 The institution Research facilities are frequently updated and there is well defined policy for promotion of research which is uploaded on the institutional website and implemented

Response:

The CNLU has been established by the Bihar Legislature Act 2006, primarily to impart modern legal education to the young students selected through CLAT entrance test. The academic pattern is research oriented from the very beginning of undergraduate courses to post graduate courses. The doctoral programs has been running from 2008 as per UGC Guidelines. CNLU has LL.D. (Post-Doctoral), program which is unique. Very few NLUs have such program. The D.Phil.-General program is non-Academic but the entire research process are based on UGC guidelines. Those who are judges, advocates, executives, or any person who have research aspiration and spirit can undergo this course who have all benefits except academic career as per UGC rules. The Ph.D. program is in Law as well as interdisciplinary. CNLU has program Ph.D. in social sciences with Law, Ph.D. in sciences with Law. From the session 2021 we have started Ph.D. program in Political science, sociology, History, Economic and management as per New Education policy of Government of India. Besides formal doctoral research, CNLU is engages in Fundamental Project research of the government of India in The Ministry of Law and Justice, WHO, UNICEF also. Some of the students are engaged in empirical research on prisoners' rights, child rights, migrant workers, environmental issues, Human rights for police, etc. CNLU provides research facilities through its enriched library where around twenty thousand books, journals, magazines, newspapers, Harvard Law Review, AIR, SCC and various reputed journals are available. The library subscribes e-resources also for the students. The library works even on all holidays except national. Researchers avail all the modern facilities –computers, internet, broad band, Wi-Fi in library for study and research. The research policies is well defined which is evident through curriculum design, recurring updating as per regulatory bodies and uploaded on the web. CNLU believes in the progress of legal academics through the promotion in multidisciplinary fundamental research.

3.3 Innovation Ecosystem

3.3.1 Institution has created an eco system for innovations including Incubation centre and other initiatives for creation and transfer of knowledge.

Response:

CNLU has been entering into MOU to create an eco-system of innovation in academics, profession and research. The MOU with AIC (Atal Incubation Centre) in 2019, established by NITI Ayog at Bihar Vidyapith Patna, with CIRF CNLU is a great achievement in this direction. CNLU.In has its centre CIRF (centre for innovation research and facilitation) which is involved in innovative work through various programs under CILPE (CREATIVITY-INNOVATION –IN –LEGAL –PROFESSIONAL –EDUCATION).The two institutions are sharing research knowledge in IPR and MSME sector. The MOU with police department of the government has been a miles stone in sharing knowledge to them in the administration of justice. Likewise MOU with correctional institutions of the government of Bihar is an opportunity of sharing research in criminal justice system. The exchange program with Bihar Judicial Academy is a great platform for transferring knowledge of academics and judiciary. Students and teachers are getting benefits. MoU with Gopal Narayan Singh College Sasaram, Bihar is providing the platform for sharing knowledge with CNLU faculties and students. The MOU with NLU Bangalore with Child Right Centre is an achievement. The eco-system of CNLU is industrial friendly too. We have regular law firm interaction program to enrich our students in the practical requirement of the curriculum design, moot and research.

5.4 Alumni Engagement

5.4.1 The Alumni Association / Chapters (registered and functional) contributes significantly to the development of the institution through financial and other support services.

Response:

CNLU has a peer mentorship program. Under this program, all students from the first year, and students from the second year who desire, are assigned mentors from the senior batches. These mentors are meant to meet the students regularly and guide them through the problems they may face in the university. · Orientation programmes: Every batch is offered with orientation programmes for career identification by inviting experts in the field. · Alumni interaction: Student community gets to interact with CNLU alumni on regular basis by way of Intra Moot Court Competitions, Debate Competitions. The alumni participate in conducting Intra Moot Court Competitions every academic year. · Students regularly organise study circles among themselves to interact and engage in group activities. · There were two aspects to our academic assistance program subject assistance and project assistance. This is done by the senior students to junior students. The university does have an institutionalized mechanism for students' placement. It helps students to identify job opportunities and allows them to prepare in the following ways: · Orientation from experts · Interaction with alumni · Publication of recruitment brochure highlighting activities of particular batches. These are also available online. · It is mandatory for the first year students to go for Library Internship, second year to intern with NGO's, third year to intern with trial court, fourth year to intern with law firms & Corporate Offices and fifth year to intern with High Court and Supreme Court. · The university has arrangement with popular law reporting agencies for training and placements. 6.2.2 The functioning of the institutional bodies is effective and efficient as visible from policies, administrative setup, appointment and service rules, procedures, etc.

Response:

The General Council, the Executive Council, The Academic Council, The Academic Planning Board and the Finance committee are the policy making bodies. The Vice Chancellor, the Registrar, the Deans, the Heads of the Dept., Such other officer as may be prescribed by the statute are executive bodies. The Chief Justice of the Patna High Court is the ex-officio Chancellor of the University. The General Council of the university is the plenary authority of the university which is empowered to formulate and review the broad policies, and programmes of the university and devise measures for the improvement and development of the university. The Executive council is the chief executive authority of the university and is empowered to administer the university in accordance with the provisions of the university Act and the statutes and regulations made there under. The Academic Council is entrusted with the management of academic affairs of the university. The Academic Planning Board develops plans of the future programs of the university. The Finance Committee is empowered to examine and scrutinize the annual budget and to make recommendations on all financial matters to the Executive Council

CNLU has been established to impart interdisciplinary, multidisciplinary, and cross disciplinary legal education. Hence to cope with the required speed to achieve the target, e-governance is a tool, adopted by the institution. The University is planning to adopt the guidelines of NAAC and all the items under AQAR. The CNLU Website and MIS system are under consideration for improvement. The Faculty development program is the important aspect of planning.

The administrative activities in CNLU, is decentralised ,cooperative and collective. The vice-chancellor, Registrar, Deans, heads of Committees, collectively control and regulate the activities. All the teachers have assigned administrative task along with teaching and research. The ICT tools -- internetservices, printers, fax, telephone, are used for this purpose. The installation of CCTV has made the administration comfortable to control and regulate the employees and students. The finance is highly automated with e-governance. The fee is online- paid. Almost all financial activities are online. The salary of the employees is online paid into their accounts. 6.3 Faculty Empowerment Strategies

6.3.1 The institution has a performance appraisal system, promotional avenues and effective welfare measures for teaching and non-teaching staff .

Response:

CNLU follows the policy of grooming faculty members through workshop, orientation program, teaching methodology and research workshop, orientation program on specific subjects, workshop on question setting evaluation and communication skill etc. The faculty members' performance are appraised regularly in the class where in the vice-Chancellor /senior professors sit and listen. They analyse the impact and discuss with the teacher off the class, suggest measures to improve. In the faculty meetings, the class progress is discussed along with teachers progress is assessed and support is provided as per required need. At the end of each semester exam, the student fill up structured feedback form which are discussed among the faculty by the registrar and vice-chancellor. Again the faculty is called and matter is discussed for improvement. Every year, the faculty has to submit report on academic achievements—Seminar, training, workshop, FDP, research publications etc. It is presented in the General Council wherein Hon'ble chancellor appraise each teachers performance .CNLU does not follow the API based performance appraisal which is just paper appraisal. CNLU appraises on the floor and motivates for improvement. There is no API appraisal system for the Non-teaching staff also. Their performance is appraised through the Administrative office by punctuality, regularity, disposal of work, obedience/loyalty, proactive attitude, efficiency and cooperative attitude. All these are noted by the Administrative officer and discussed in the quarterly staff orientation program. Any negative points are dealt with motivational approach. The faculty has got promotional avenue through CAS under UGC scheme. The process of promotional screening is as per UGC guidelines. It is continuous process. The promotional policy for non-teaching staff is also available. The University has adopted welfare schemes for teaching and non-teaching staff: EPF, medical, gratuity, maternity benefit, medical leave, earn leave, residential facility in the campus etc.

6.4 Financial Management and Resource Mobilization

6.4.1 Institutional strategies for mobilisation of funds and the optimal utilisation of resources

Response:

The University has been established by the Act of 2006 of government of Bihar. The government has provided 18 acres of land, borne infrastructure construction etc. The university has been collecting fee from students and has a very sufficient corpus. The government provides repairing and maintenance fund. The university garners resources from UGC, UNICEF, various corporate bodies etc. CNLU mobilises projects funds from government of India, Bihar government, endowment fund from public for different medals for students. The university utilises its fund in various renovation and construction activities.

The university has a full time finance officer, Account Officer and regular audit is conducted to monitor effective and efficient use of financial resources. Committees have also been formed to ensure proper use of the resources. The university has mechanism for internal audit. The annual finances are audited by a qualified chartered Accountant scrutinized by the Finance Committee and approved by the Executive Council which in turn is presented to the General Council for its final approval. The university has sent a formal request to the Auditor General Bihar Circle for External Audit. The university has constituted Finance Committee having the Vice-Chancellor, Registrar, Commissioner cum Secretary Education and two other members nominated by the executive council. The Finance Committee examines and scrutinizes the annual budget, considers any proposal for new expenses, re-appropriation and audit reports and offers its recommendations to the Executive Council. The meeting of the committee takes place at least once in three months. They are audited regularly every year. There are no major audit objections. Being a statutory University, the University is partly funded by the State and the UGC. The Panchayati Raj chair has been instituted under the sponsorship of the government of Bihar. University is in process of approaching funding bodies for the establishment of another chair on IPR. The University is attracting some endowment funds from the general public.

6.5 Internal Quality Assurance System

6.5.1 Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) has contributed significantly for institutionalizing the quality assurance strategies and processes by constantly reviewing the teaching learning process, structures & methodologies of operations and learning outcomes at periodic intervals.

Response:

IQAC has been constituted in the university 15th June, 2015. IQAC has been organising faculty development program, orientation program, research workshop, question setting and evaluation workshop, inter-personal relation (HR) workshop (both for teaching and non-teaching) for academic improvement. It has been organising seminar, webinar, expert lecture series, alumni lecture series, career counselling program etc. IQAC has been endeavouring to motivate creativity innovation in legal professional education. Hence a program named CILPE has been started for this purpose. IQAC has been coordination in the committee meetings, its members for proper functioning of the University and achieve the desired goal.

The Equal Opportunity Cell studies pertaining to incremental academic prospects and growth of students from disadvantaged section of the society will be commenced very soon. The Government of Bihar has come to see for their development. The University believes in the principles of inclusive growth and seeks to provide equal opportunity to students from disadvantaged sections of the society. Regular meetings of all teaching staff for inputs and review which results in changes in curriculum and administrative requirements like attendance etc. and to review the feedback from the students and various committees and departments are regular activities. The IQAC has been taking utmost care in professional training ,like drafting ,pleading ,conveyancing , in-house moot on the fact in issues. The cell has been encouraging the faculty to write research papers ,participate in the seminars, undergo orientation /refresher courses, FDP ,charing sessions, delivering extra lectures at different academic institutions. The IQAC is taking care of students for their overall development. It is coordinating the committees ,motivating the members, encouraging the students for personal ,academic ,administrative development. The IQAC is motivating the faculty ,staff and students to the solution to a problem. Hence participative management is the policy of IQAC.. The revision of syllabus ,lecture plan preparation, expert advice from professors of other university has boot up moral of the faculty and motivated students significantly. The result is that a number of students have cracked judicial service examination. The future plan is to intiate more programs where in the involvement of faculty and students shall be encouraged. The internship program has been hailed by the students. The E-Journals are one more feather in the cap of the university. IQAC has been making efforts to develo the institution collectively for the stake holders .

6.5.3 Incremental improvements made for the preceding five years with regard to quality (in case of first cycle), Post accreditation quality initiatives (second and subsequent cycles).

Response:

The IQAC has been constituted on 15th June 2015, just before the first cycle visit of NAAC. The report of the NAAC was encouraging. The IQAC got functional gradually along with the administrative structure and pattern. Since the legal education is research oriented, therefore, IQAC took the initiative of ‘Research Oriented Teaching workshop’ in the post accreditation cycle. Here in the faculty members were guided how to prepare lecture plan, case study, framing of question for class discussion, raising issues for debate in the class with reference to current legal issues relevant to the lectures. This program has been recurring every semester Meeting of all Committees. IQAC has initiated in-house debate on legal issues. It has been orienting the mind of students and faculty both. IQAC also took up the challenge of coordination of the various committee Meetings of all committees in CNLU. This helped committee to learn the problems of each other. It has been found that conflict is a very common phenomenon, since each human being has his own interest which propels their emotions, may lead to major conflict. The workshop on emotional intelligence has been working magical effect on the teaching as well as non-teaching staff. The Staff Orientation Program (SOP) has become very popular in CNLU. Here the staff has been given to freedom for sharing their grievances. This diffuses tension and the root cause of conflict is reduced. Inter-personal conflict resolution Teacher's orientation program (TOP) is organised separately in which all the aspects of teaching and research are discussed.

IQAC initiated training in mock interview for the students who had qualified mains examination of various state judicial service examinations. To achieve optimum rate of success many judges and noted academicians were called by the university who through expertise and great experience paved the path of success for the participants. This initiative yielded excellent result and most of the participants got finally selected in state judicial service examination. This exercise helped the students immensely in overcoming their sense of fear and equipped them with sound fundamental knowledge to meet the interview Board. University looks forward to carry on with similar initiatives for other prestigious competitive examinations in future too.

The IQAC plans to work out all the required attempts-- the possibility towards teaching and research, as well as to achieve the mission and objective of the university, as per the available resources. The objective of the university is to impart excellent legal education to produce law graduates with professional skills. The IQAC is engaged in organizing seminar- National and international along with expert resource persons. It is planning to create academic and research friendly environment for both teachers and students.

Criterion 7 - Institutional Values and Best Practices

7.1 Institutional Values and Social Responsibilities

7.1.1 Measures initiated by the Institution for the promotion of gender equity during the last five years.

Response:

CNLU believes in gender equality. It is practicing as per Article 14 and 15 of Indian constitution. Gender inequality are found in terms of health, education, marriages, atrocities/harassment, abuses etc. CNLU applies gender equity policy in the campus as well as outside the campus. The environment in the campus is gender friendly with adequate measures of protection to girl students. Boys' and Girls' halls of residence and mess is separate. The lady security guard and warden are deployed in the halls of girls. For health care, trained ANM has been appointed. The hall of residence has all facilities required for ladies. The classroom area is gender friendly. Despite the disciplinary committee/gender equity committee keeps vigil over the activities. The Anti-ragging committee is always active. The University promotes Gender sensitive environment. As a part of some of its activities, the group has invited legal luminaries and prominent activists to deliver lectures on issues of gender. Along with this, street plays have been organized and posters have been utilized for creating general awareness. The university has constituted Gender Sensitization Committee against Sexual Harassment (GS CASH Committee) to address complaints arising from sexual harassment. The university has made available the necessary information on its website to deal with sexual harassment on campus. The university has anti-ragging squad and anti-ragging committee as per the UGC guidelines. They are available on our website: <http://www.cnlu.ac.in/pdf/Anti Ragging Guideline English.pdf>. The details of the committee along with their phone numbers are available on the university website. The university has uploaded helpline numbers on the website. Students are encouraged to contact immediately in-case of any ragging activity. The wardens reside in the campus to ensure round the clock vigil. However, the University provides equal opportunities to all, without any gender discrimination. Training programs on gender sensitization have been conducted. The university has been active in gender sensitization program with its Child Rights Centres (CRC) in the last five years, related to health and hygiene, child marriage, health and nutrition, abuses related to women. It has organised several in-house and outreach programs. The women student of CNLU participate and motivate people in all these programs.

7.1.8 Describe the Institutional efforts/initiatives in providing an inclusive environment i.e., tolerance and harmony towards cultural, regional, linguistic, communal socioeconomic and other diversities (within 500 words).

Response:

CNLU is a national Law university where admission is allowed through CLAT test with all India entrance test. Therefore, students from different region, religion, caste, language culture come and reside in the campus in the halls of residence. The mode of instruction in CNLU is English only. This reduces the linguistic problem. Since all are law students therefore, they have a sense of Indianness prevalent as per the preamble of our constitution. They have rational thought and modern outlook hence they do not believe in gender and cultural differences. This helps the university administration in augmenting the sense of fraternity among students very easily. The Senior students are part of anti-ragging squads along with security officer, warden (Halls of Residence) and faculty members. The freshers are informed about the issues pertaining to ragging and the mechanism evolved by the university administration to handle such incidents strictly in accordance with the zero-tolerance policy of the UGC. Further the senior students also apprise them about the campus scenario and how best they can utilise their time effectively by being part of the various campus activities. The university organises an orientation programme every year on the first day of the academic session for the new students. In this programme most of the faculties along with the vice chancellor interact with the students and inform them about the importance of law as a profession. They are sensitized about the prospects of law and its growing avenues. The university administration also endeavours to alleviate the fear of ragging on any ground -linguistic, cultural, sex, regional or communal. CNLU encourages dialogue on such issues and creates an environment of harmony by encouraging a formal dialogue between the senior and the junior students.

7.1.9 Sensitization of students and employees of the Institution to the constitutional obligations: values, rights, duties and responsibilities of citizens (within 500 words).

Response:

Awareness programs and legal literacy programs carried out by the students are part of the subjects which they have to study as part of curriculum. Thus, programs like human rights awareness provides them an opportunity to become the future voice for the voiceless. To promote cultural, legal and ethical values with a view to promote and foster the rule of law and the objectives enshrined in the Constitution of India; The vision of CNLU lays down the following objectives in CNLU Act, 2006: S.4 of the CNLU Act 2006, reads – 1. To provide quality multi-disciplinary education in legal studies, keeping in view Global as well as domestic demands. 2. To impart legal education and research for excellence for national development. 3. To promote cultural legal and ethical values to foster rule of law and the objectives enshrined in the constitution. The students are encouraged and are provided guidance to prepare memorials for the moot courts by the faculty and regular moot courts are conducted right from the beginning of the session and the first year students are given rigorous training for participation in the moot courts and writing the project reports. Students are encouraged to undertake empirical research in partial fulfilment of their research projects touching on socio-legal aspects. The research students are required to take classes for the students. Faculty members regularly encourage and monitor the use of library resources in the library particularly in finding out original materials from the judgements and reference books. The students are engaged in the legal aid, legal awareness, swachhata program, child rights awareness, and women sensitisation programs. These programs inculcate a sense of duty and responsibility towards their own, institution, family, society, environment etc. They also work with NGOs during internship programs and learn their duties towards the vulnerable groups -children, women, old age/senior citizens etc. The university also celebrates various commemorative days, yoga day, cultural programs, nukkar natak to develop sense of duty and responsibility. The students are also assigned various academic events to organise and learn leadership.

7.1.10 The Institution has a prescribed code of conduct for students, teachers, administrators and other staff and conducts periodic programmes in this regard.

- 1. The Code of Conduct is displayed on the website
- 2. There is a committee to monitor adherence to the Code of Conduct

7.2 Best Practices

7.2.1 Describe two best practices successfully implemented by the Institution as per NAAC format provided in the Manual.

Response:

CNLU is committed to Wholesome and comprehensive multi-disciplinary and inter- disciplinary legal education and Enhancing the Research Skills in legal education and professional training in B.A., LL.B. (Hons.) and B.B.A., LL.B., (Hons.) courses. The university continuously endeavours to enhance and augment the research skills interfacing with the science and technology. The University believes that mentors must be given importance in drafting and implementing of the curriculum of the university. They are well aware of various needs of the learners and can accordingly contribute substantially to their academic growth. The teachers teach the Law subjects in the social context and social sciences in the context of law thereby injecting interdisciplinary and holistic thinking about the subject in its proper context. Teachers through their teaching assignment, question setting and the evaluation of the script make the entire learning drive very fruitful for the students. Since the evaluators are the same, so they are in a better position to filter out strengths as well as weaknesses of the learners. To provide quality legal education in highly globalized and competitive society, interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary research skills in both teachers and taught are indispensable. University is aware of the paramount significance of research activities and worthy publications in various periodical and research journals to give fillip to such activities. Our university has been successfully publishing its own journal that has been cataloguing some of the best articles in this country. This publication of CNLU Law Journal is jointly supervised and managed by students and faculty. A good number of research papers written by students with active academic support by the teachers are published in national journals. With fusion of non-law subjects with law subjects' interdisciplinary approach and synthesizing power of student is considerably augmented. They are encouraged to adopt the same technique while conducting research activities. Regularly academic meets are organised between students and faculties where certain legal issues of great relevance are discussed with emphasis on interdisciplinary approach. To implement such highly productive and innovative practices frequent meetings are organized between senior faculty and other faculty members thereby ensuring free exchange of thoughts and critiquing teaching learning practices. This develops open mindedness leading to freedom of expression and a sense of intimacy among junior and senior faculty members. To meet the objective we are engaging cooperative teaching in the classrooms by combining senior and junior faculty. Teaching learning process is complemented with the latest technological teaching aids in the classrooms including PowerPoint presentations and interactive sessions. Project presentation is another area where the students are made to involve themselves with serious research commitments and improved presentation skills besides this the faculty and the students participate in the regular in-house seminars conducted on contemporary topics. Besides this the senior students are encouraged to teach the junior students under the supervision of the faculty members. The students are encouraged and are provided guidance to prepare memorials for the moot courts by the faculty and regular moot courts are conducted right from the beginning of the session and the first year students are given rigorous training for participation in the moot courts and writing the project reports. Students are encouraged to undertake empirical research in partial fulfilment of their research projects touching on socio-legal aspects. The research students are required to take classes for the students. Faculty members regularly encourage and monitor the use of library resources in the library particularly in finding out original materials from the judgements and reference books. The University has a very rich library and books on various areas of law and social sciences are available. The best available online resources for legal and social sciences research are also subscribed to. 5. Evidence of Success Our consistent endeavour to consolidate academic ambience has yielded rich dividends that is duly manifested by great heights scaled by our students. Their resounding success in their career in various law firms and other prestigious competitions speaks volumes of truth about their mettle. Many of our students have brought laurels by getting selected as law clerks in Supreme Court of India. Former Chief Justice of India Hon'ble Mr. Justice Altamas Kabir has declared in the first convocation the high calibre demonstrated by the CNLU students. Many graduates of the University have taken admission in the most prestigious and esteemed universities of India and abroad and successfully completed their advanced studies. Our collaboration with Vistula University of Poland has yielded positive results as it has provided golden opportunity to students and faculty of both sides to exchange their ideas in a more wholesome and comprehensive manner. We are collaborating with some reputed Universities and Institutions such as NLSUI Bangalore, ASIAN School of Cyber Law, Pune and MATS University, Raipur, AIC (Atal Innovation Centre), Bihar Police Administration, Dashrath Manjhi institute through MoUs. Under our academic social responsibility, we have collaborated with UNICIEF and established a Centre for Child Rights for bringing enlightened awareness among the stakeholders and are working closely with Centre for Child and the Law, NLSIU, Bangalore. 6. Problem Encountered and Resources required the main challenges before us are inadequacy of infrastructure and finances. Fund is not available for starting various research projects and establishment of proposed centres of excellence.

The University is Composed of Administration, Teachers, and students. The objective of the university is achieving excellence in academics and research. The purpose is to make the students a very good professional with all practical experience. Hence the practices of cooperation and coordination is the basic structure for any best practices. 1. The University Administration is divided into various committees comprising teachers and students. It helps the administration to encourage participatory management and smooth functioning to achieve desired goal. The teacher -student relation is primary for learning outcome. For this purposes, informal sports and games helps in reducing tension, develops faith, increases comfort level between them. The Interpersonal Relationship is the issues of every institution. The staff orientation program (SOP) defuses tension among employees and helps them realizing their potency and how much valuable they are. The academic planning through lecture plan, discussion in the faculty meetings, review of syllabus, updating of lecture plans are the best practices which boost up the moral of students and teachers also. Hence, decentralization in administration, Cooperation and Coordination among faculty members and fixing accountability and responsibility on administrative staff are key factors of best practices. 2.. The University has a Research and Mentoring Society in which the senior students help the junior students in the preparation of Moot Memorials with the help of subject expert teachers. They also help in mootng practices, debating, research writing and advocacy. To develop learning curiosity along with professional skill is the objective for which student centric collaborative practices have been adopted.

7.3 Institutional Distinctiveness

7.3.1 Portray the performance of the Institution in one area distinctive to its priority and thrust within 1000 words

Response:

The university has the mechanism to get the feedback of the students at the end of every semester. The feedback is duly analysed and faculty are advised accordingly in periodic faculty meetings. As a result of these measures academic performance of the students has improved significantly. The teachers are regularly guiding them to excel in studies and co-curricular activities. The university is very much concerned about the academic advancement of economically disadvantaged section of the society and thus regularly conducts study on their academic performance. The performance of slow learners and physically handicapped students is also analysed on the basis of their academic activities and other performance indicators. In the study it has been found that the students, who belong to the weaker sections of the society, do lack in the areas of communication, presentation and writing skills. The medium of instruction being English poses a big challenge to them as most of them come from Hindi medium schools. This also has a bearing on their examination results which is reflected in the form of backlog papers and detention. Equal Opportunity Cell puts on extra efforts in ameliorating this situation as 50% of the students fall in this category needing the active involvement of Equal Opportunity Cell. At the end of each semester's examination, students are given a proforma to evaluate the respective faculty members on the basis of various criteria as laid down by the university and furnish their feedback. This data is collected and analysed by the university and concerned faculties are informed about their performances and strengths and weakness. Further, faculty members are, if necessary, advised to enrich and update their subjects so as to improve the quality of the teaching-learning process.

CNLU since its inception has been committed to provide that knowledge which is holistic and wholesome and leads to enlightenment and liberation of mind .CNLU has been producing best legal minds in the country who have brought much pride to the university by their exemplary performance in all professions be it advocacy, corporate world and NGO. In addition to these feats students have earned appreciations from different judges of high courts and supreme courts by working as court clerks in different high courts and Supreme Court of India. CNLU students wherever they have worked have earned great respect for themselves and have brought great laurels for the university. CNLU students with ample support from the administration under able guidance of teachers have always tried to achieve best in their life without compromising ethical primer of life. 5. CONCLUSION

Additional Information :

The Chanakya National Law University (CNLU) has been established on the pattern of other national Law Universities in India with a mission to impart world class legal education institution. The university started working under the able leadership of Prof. Dr A Lakshmi Nath from 2006. The founding phase of the university faced so many ups and down, financial, and infrastructural crunch with challenges of academic development. The establishment of organisational setup was the next challenge. The second five year was fully invested in academics and causes of students which is reflected in the NAAC Assessment in 2016 with Grade A. The third five-year phase are being invested for the overall development under the able leadership of Justice (Mrs) Mridula Mishra (Retd) and Shri Manoranjan Prasad Srivastava (The Registrar), Dist. Judge (Retd). CNLU has Centres (Child Rights, CIRF in IPHD, ARCILA, INDO-EUROPEAN), and Panchayati Raj chair. The efforts are under process for the establishment of IPR Chair. Despite Pandemic situation, CNLU has been carrying out teaching, research, examination, evaluation in its all courses timely and effectively. The University governance is cooperative, matured and goal oriented with decentralisation and collective responsibility. Courses are framed in such a way that students must learn and contribute to the society. The physical infrastructure, manpower, human resources, green campus all are well developed. The vice-Chancellor has been trying her best to join hands through MOU with various universities, institutions, organisations for academic exchange, research, and propagation of knowledge. Regular seminar, workshop, lectures of experts is a part and parcel of the course routine. CIRF has released two journals(online) on IPR last month. CNLU library is one of the best with all modern facilities. Recently CNLU students have won international moot organised by Sharda University. It has won several moots in India in the last five years. The cooperative atmosphere in teaching, research, administration, training are assets to the university. The students' initiatives, cooperation and coordination are praiseworthy. Of course, CNLU, must do a lot in near future. The fifteen years period is a very small part in its journey, nevertheless, the achievements are not insignificant.
