INTERNATIONAL PARTICIPATORY SYMPOSIUM

ON

“INDIA-USA PHARMACEUTICAL PATENTS REGIME”

On

(16th March, 2020.)

Innovation has been key to development in every ages. Earlier, it was for the benefit of the society. Today it has been intending to business primarily. The innovators as well as companies pressurise their governments to monopolise interest. Hence it starts trade war between nations .The global- social interest is left behind. Patentsis a rights granted to exploit the invention on discloser, otherwise it is a confidential information / trade secret of the invention. The government offers protection to the economic rights of inventors, as a token of encouragement, keeping in mind societal interest. The Indian patents Act declares the public policy under the chapter ‘working of patents’. But the pricing policy on pharmaceutical patents do not reflect in the legislation. India has amended Patents Act 1970 along with TRIPS Agreements. The National Policy on Intellectual property 2016 has been a great endeavour in the promotion of IPRs in India. The Indian Patents office has been restructured and equipped with Experts man power. The Universities are being encouraged to innovate under ‘Atal Innovation Mission’. Despite sincere efforts India has been facing lots of problems with respect to Pharmaceutical innovation and patenting. Hence trade balance with USA is a subject of concern. Hence this symposium will discuss the pharmaceutical Patenting issuesbetween India and USA in detail.
