About Chanakya National Law University, Patna

Chanakya National Law University (CNLU) was established by the Bihar Act No. 24 of 2006 under the patronage of Govt. of Bihar and is included in sections 2(f) & 12(B) of the U.G.C. Act, 1956. It is established with an altruistic aspiration of serving society by imparting quality legal education and legal awareness. The University is recognized by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and is registered with the Bar Council of India (BCI). On July 15, 2006 came into being Chanakya National Law University at Patna under the able guidance of its founding Vice-Chancellor, Prof. Dr. A. Lakshminath, former Dean and Registrar, NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad. The construction work of the university is spread on 18 acres of land at Nyaya Nagar, Mithapur, Patna. A sprawling lawn with various types of palm trees adds beauty to the landscape. The University offers five years of B.A., LL.B. (Hons.) and B.B.A., LL.B. (Hons.) programs following the semester system. The teaching pedagogy prioritizes classroom lectures, and presentations as well as augmenting the all-around development of students. CNLU provides a range of specialist clinics and visiting practitioners to provide quality legal education and to raise national legal standards to a competitive international level. University organizes regular careers fairs, training workshops, and one-to-one guidance for students develop overall temperament of students. CNLU as a Law University is based on the pillars of, “access, equity, quality, affordability and accountability” and it aims to achieve its goals through its advanced studies and research in all branches of law which eventually contribute to the excellence of society.

Message from the Vice Chancellor's Desk

- Justice Mridula Mishra

Chanakya National Law University Patna, in its endeavour to meet learning needs of students and young professionals, has launched PG Diploma courses in Human Rights, Cyber Law, Intellectual Property Law, Corporate Philanthropy and Child Rights.

These five courses have been designed to give sound theoretical foundation and imperative practical understanding to students for their professional success. Subject experts in their respective fields have been roped in to give students unique opportunity to deliberate on current topics in their subjective interest area with these experts and receive invaluable practical insight for success in the field.

The PG Diploma course in Human Rights covers all the basic tenets of Human Rights, including its theoretical foundation and its practical application for all vulnerable groups, especially women, children, minorities, migrant workers, prisoners and disabled persons. The course also covers the international dimensions of human rights and organizations and institutions involved in its enforcement.

Cybercrimes are increasing in leaps and bounds. The course on cyber law is designed for students as well as young professionals to cover the legal framework as well technological and commercial aspects of cyber law, including e contracts, e commerce, e governance, electronic and digital signature. Contemporary burning issues of data protection, privacy, IPR in cyber space has also been covered.

PG Diploma in Intellectual Property Law has again been designed from a practitioners perspective and therefore incorporates detailed content on processes of registration of various intellectual property rights like trademark, copyright, patents and geographical indications. In addition, infringement proceedings and remedies regarding the same has also been proposed to cover in detail to equip the students with the practical and dynamic nature of this law.

Corporate Social Responsibility is a critical aspect of Corporate space in present times. To equip students with a better understanding of this subject area, the course has been designed to give a thorough understanding of processes of corporate social responsibilities and the processes through which NGOs would be able to assess the. Funds there under and obligations therein.

The course on Child Rights seeks to equip professionals, students and prospective employees of child care institutions and NGOs with thorough understanding of laws relating to children and skills and practical understanding required to work in the area of child rights. The course touches upon both international and national field but proposes to give a thorough yet lucid understanding of child rights.

We are optimistic that these courses will prove extremely beneficial to students who undertake them under the guidance of our competent faculty members and experts.

Message from Registrar's Desk

- Manoranjan Pd. Srivastava

We are pleased to launch five new PG Diploma courses in the area of Cyber Law, Human Rights, Intellectual Property Law, Corporate Philanthropy and Corporate Social Responsibility and Child Rights. Chanakya National Law University Patna, true to its motto, Gyan Dhanam, Maha Dhanam seeks to make quality education accessible to all students. The University has built experience through its various research centres to be able to contribute to building better understanding in these subject areas.

We found many students seeking quality short term courses in the above areas and therefore took the initiative to launch these courses to address learning gaps among students and young professionals. These courses have been designed specially keeping in mind the practitioners perspective and therefore has incorporated experiences as well as experts from the field to contribute in the teaching of these courses.

These courses are of a duration of one year. The courses are designed to allow students interaction and discussion in the classes, with experts as well as workshops and writing assignments to deepen their understanding and hone their practical skills.

The Human Rights course has both international and national dimensions but it focuses also on institutions involved in protection of human rights as well as on human rights of vulnerable groups. In this way, it encompasses all dimensions of human rights and increases its learning value with engagement with subject experts and field practitioners.

The course on Cyber law is well designed for students as well as practitioners and cyber experts. It touches upon the various cyber crimes as well as latest developments in the field of internet and technology like artificial intelligence, block chain and big data.

Intellectual Property Law course is also designed for practitioners as well as students with special emphasis on processes of registration of various Intellectual property rights and covers some of the newest forms of intellectual property like geographical indications.

Corporate Social Responsibility is one of the most important sources of funding from NGOs and we feel that it is imperative that NGOs as well as corporates build their understanding of CSR for the effective use of these funds in nation building. Hence this course is designed to equip NGOs with practical skills of engaging with funding through corporate social responsibility and corporate philanthropy.

Children are foundation of our society and are critical in nation building. The course in child rights seeks to equip child rights practitioners as well as students interested in working with children, with skills and knowledge essential to work with children.

We welcome all prospective students to explore our courses and take this great opportunity of learning and skill generation.

Message from P. G. Diploma Course Director

- Prof. (Dr.) S. P. Singh

We at Chanakya National Law University, Patna, are delighted to offer five new PG Diploma courses in the subject areas of Human Rights, Intellectual Property Law, Cyber Law, Corporate Philanthropy and Corporate Social Responsibility, and Child Rights. These courses are of one year duration and have been conceived by expert faculties with input from field experts. They have been designed and structured to address learning gaps in traditionally designed courses in these subject areas. Some of the subjects like Cyber Law and Corporate Social Responsibility are not offered in many universities which hinders students' career prospects. In addition, due to dynamic nature of these subjects, learning gaps have often been found in students and young professionals working in related fields. It is to address these challenges that the courses have been designed keeping in mind practical skills, exposure and mental temperament required to succeed in careers associated with these subjects. Therefore we have endeavored to incorporate expert lectures, deliberation and discussion, research projects, workshops and exposure visits for effective learning process of our students. CNLU provides a conducive learning environment and quality infrastructure to students to attain their learning objectives. We are assured that our efforts will be well appreciated and these courses will contribute to the improvement in knowledge and skills of prospective students.
