NOTICE

Subject: Exclusive Authority of the University to Schedule Online Classes & Prohibition on Unauthorized Scheduling

It is hereby notified that Chanakya National Law University (CNLU) exclusively reserves the right to schedule online classes for students based on individual circumstances and academic requirements. The University shall assess each case independently, and any decision regarding online classes shall be made solely by the University administration.

Students seeking online classes must submit a formal request to the University authorities, providing valid and justified reasons such as medical grounds or exceptional circumstances. The decision to grant such a request shall remain at the University's discretion.

No student shall, under any circumstances, schedule, organize, or facilitate online classes for themselves or their fellow students without prior approval from the University. Any unauthorized arrangement of online classes by students shall be deemed a violation of University regulations.

Any breach of this directive will be considered an indiscipline according to university regulation, and the University reserves the right to initiate appropriate action against those found in violation. Such actions may include disciplinary proceedings in accordance with the University's rules and policies.

All students are strictly advised to adhere to this regulation to maintain academic discipline and institutional integrity.

By Order,

Prof. (Dr.) S. P. Singh
Registrar
